

Military Exercises at Brassmasters' Ranges

Brassmasters strongly supports the military and makes its ranges available to the various branches of service for live-fire training and qualification requirements. The photograph below illustrates National Guard members loading magazines in preparation for live-firing exercises

Actual live-fire qualification

